The image consists of a horizontal sequence of 10 circular frames, each showing a different stage of a ring's motion. The ring starts on the left, oriented vertically, and moves towards the right. In the first five frames, the ring is mostly vertical, with a slight diagonal tilt. In the next three frames, it becomes increasingly horizontal. In the final two frames, the ring is nearly horizontal and positioned near the right edge of the sequence. A small, solid blue vertical bar is located at the bottom center of the last frame.
